

Jose Antonio Aranda
Technology Director
GSMA

Jose Antonio Aranda is the Technology Director for Latin America at the GSMA and he is responsible for providing technical expertise to the region.

In 2008-9 he was the Event Director of the GSMA Mobile World Congress in Barcelona (Spain). He has also held different positions at the GSMA since 2006, such as Technical Working Group Director managing first the BARG (roaming) Group, then IWG (interconnection) Group and more recently IREG (network) Group.

Prior to joining GSMA, Jose worked for 8 years for Vodafone Spain in the Institutional Relations and Customer Service Departments. In 1996, Jose began his career in technical departments in operational engineering positions in the Austrian National Television in Vienna (Austria), the Cybernetic and Artificial Intelligence Department of the Faculty of Kosice (Slovakia) and North-American Studies Centre in Madrid (Spain).