

09/13/2017

Ubiquitous Digital Identity

Bill O'Hern
AT&T Chief Security Officer

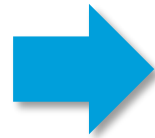

Status Quo is Unsustainable

But It Can Be Solved

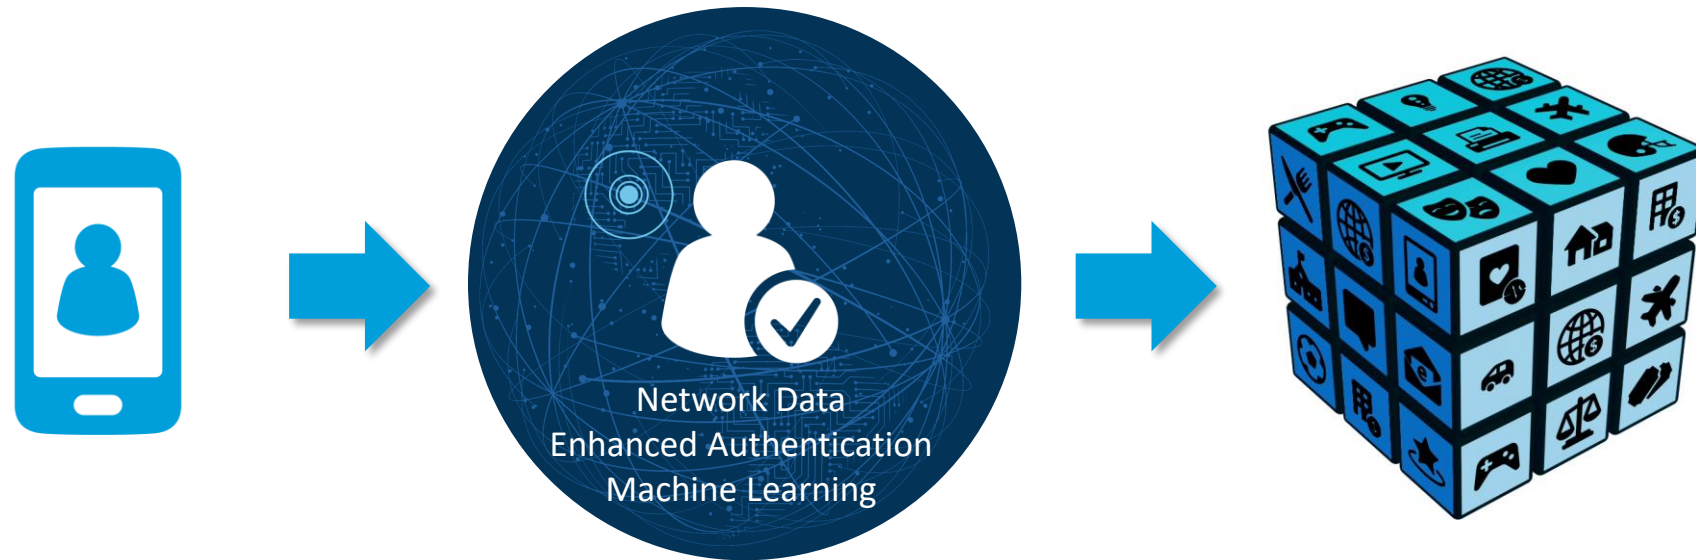

- Fragmented
- Insecure

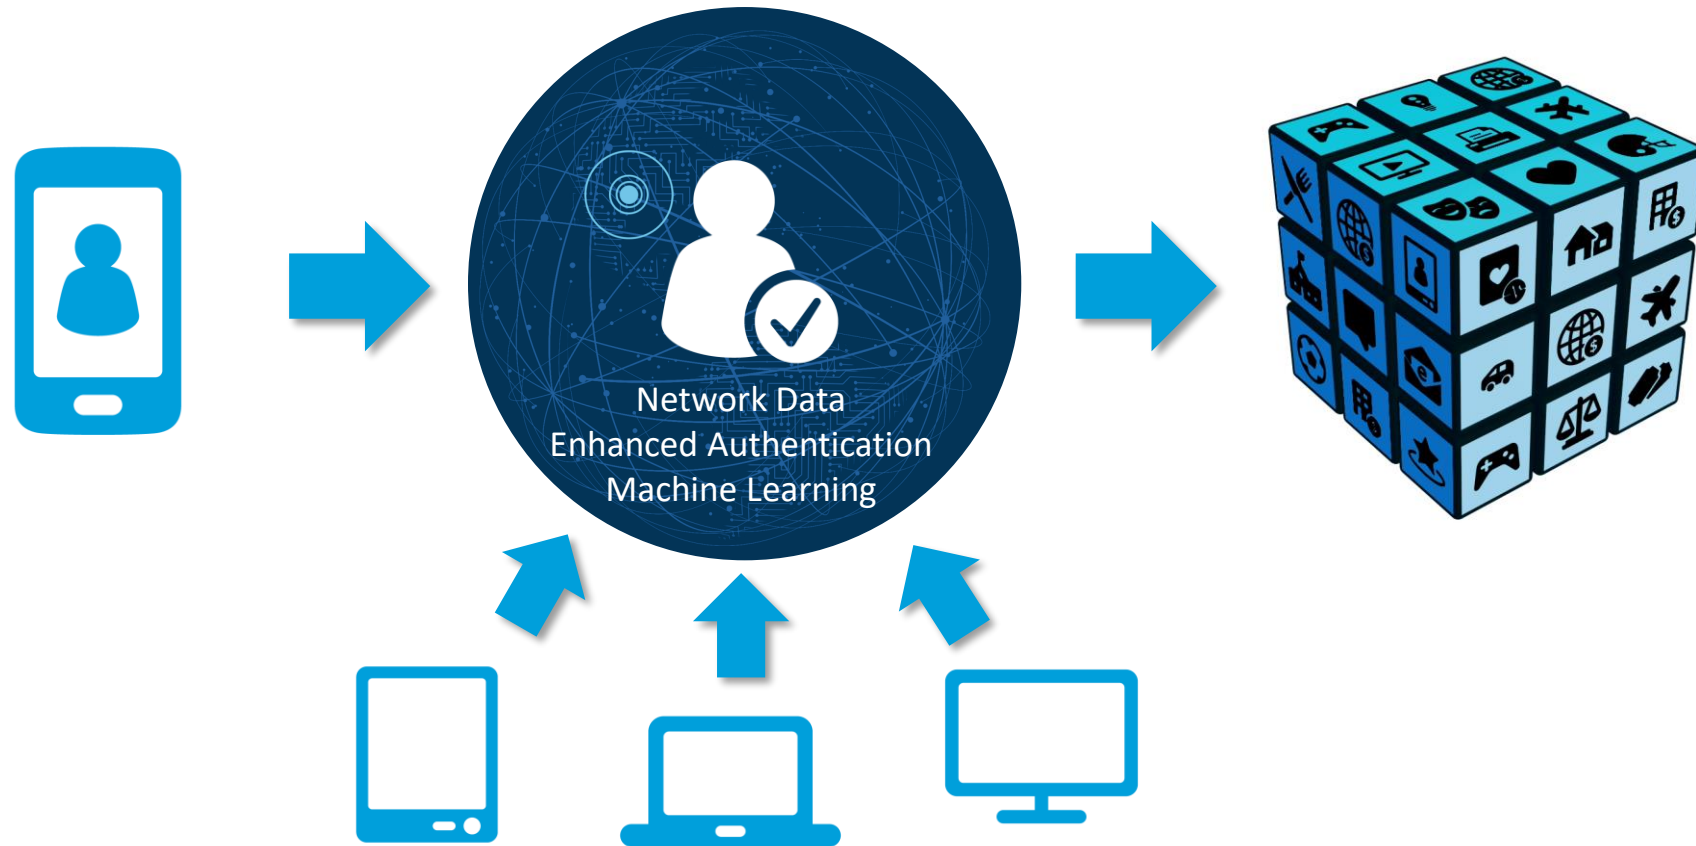

- Unified
- Highly Secure
- Adaptable

And the Mobile Network Operators Can Help Solve It

- ✓ Privacy
- ✓ Convenience
- ✓ Trust

On Any Connected Device

So We Will...

Mobile Authentication Taskforce

AT&T Sprint T-Mobile Verizon

Representing Over 400 Million Subscribers in the U.S.

THE VERGE

MOBILE \ TECH \ AT&T

Major US carriers say they're working on a more secure two-factor system

by Jacob Kastrenakes | Sep 8, 2017, 12:29pm EDT

engadget

US carriers partner on a better mobile authentication system

AT&T, Sprint, T-Mobile and Verizon formed a taskforce to create a new open standard.

REVIEWS NEWS VIDEO HOW TO SMART HOME CARS GAMES DOWNLOAD

MOBILE

Logging in with your phone could get more secure in 2018

The four big US carriers have begun working on a plan to improve authentication with your mobile phone.

BY STEPHEN SHANKLAND / 9 SEPTEMBER 2017 5:50 AM AEST

