INTEROPERABILITY

Flexibility | Security | Reliability | User Centric | Customer Centric

Let’s not focus on IoT today

Valid is participating in the 5G IoT Summit this week:

How eSIM for IoT Applications are shaping the future of the IoT ecosystem

Sam Brown
Business Development Manager for OEMs

Let’s not discuss the standards today

Valid follows All standards and is GSMA Certified

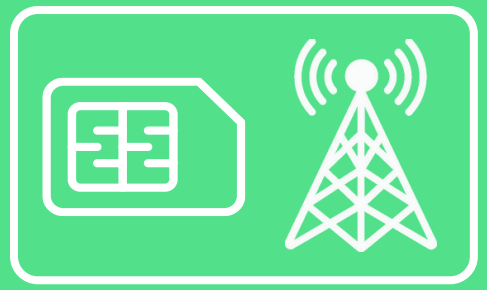

Valid

Secure Data transfer from MNO to Device

Valid

All kind of HUMANS

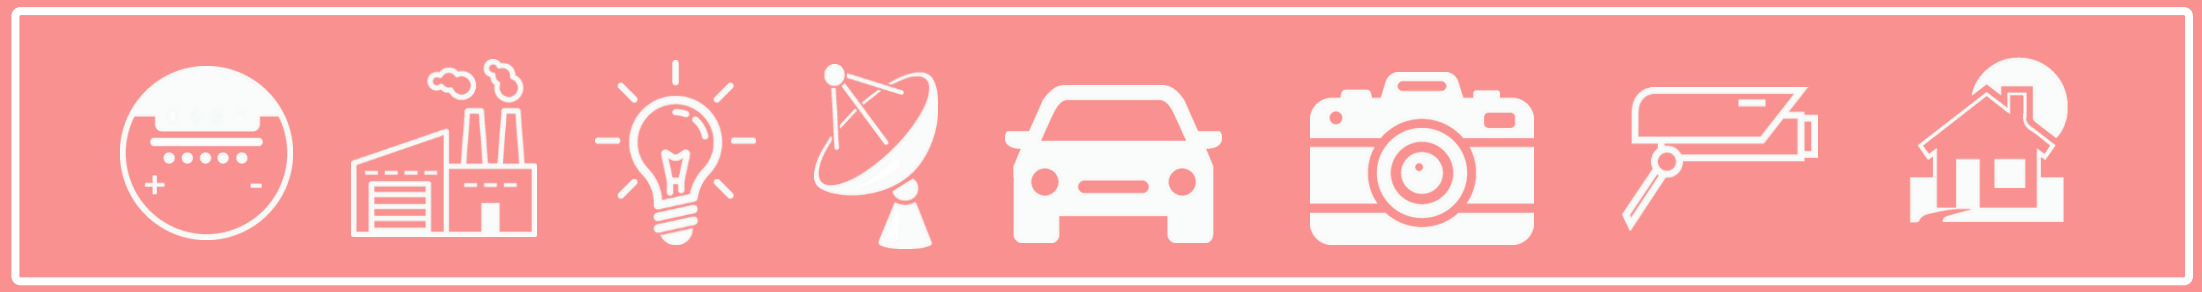

SECURITY

With all kind of connectivity needs.

(But the user is still replacing SIMs manually…)

Valid

All kind of THINGS

Cellular connectivity for a real connected world

eSIM now allows having two Subscription inside active and change the Profiles from the old device to the new device.

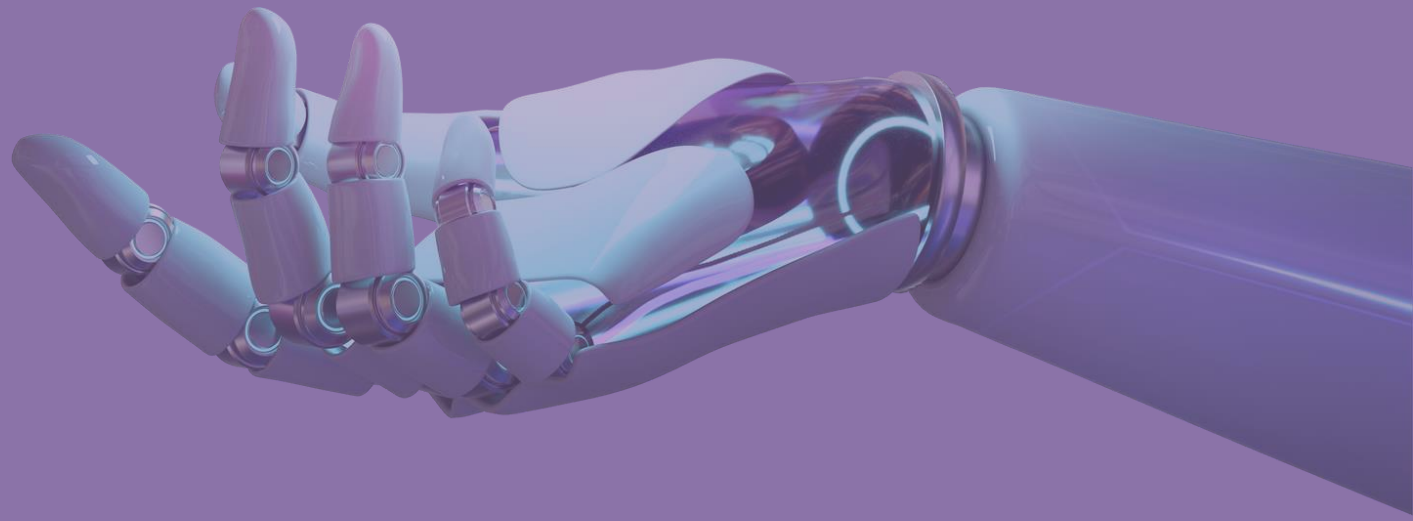

But the industry still rely on the SIM…

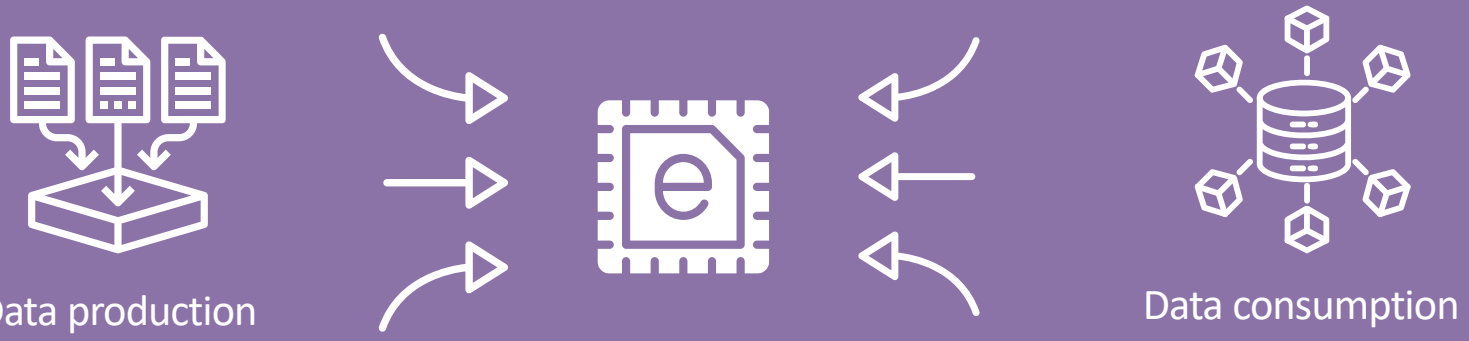

Valid

And now… Intelligent THINGS

AI is now an unquestionable trend and will be the future.

AI future that cannot exist without secure & reliable connections.

Valid

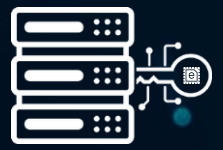

A Full Connected and Intelligent world

Connected things and the synergy with the AI will bring a brilliant new world, full connected and more intelligent.

How Valid can guide Operators?

Guiding, helping, building… together

Providing orchestration services that helps with the integration and digital services to be provided by the Operator’s customers (in consumer).

And very soon providing comprehensive and “easy to use” remote management systems for the IoT.

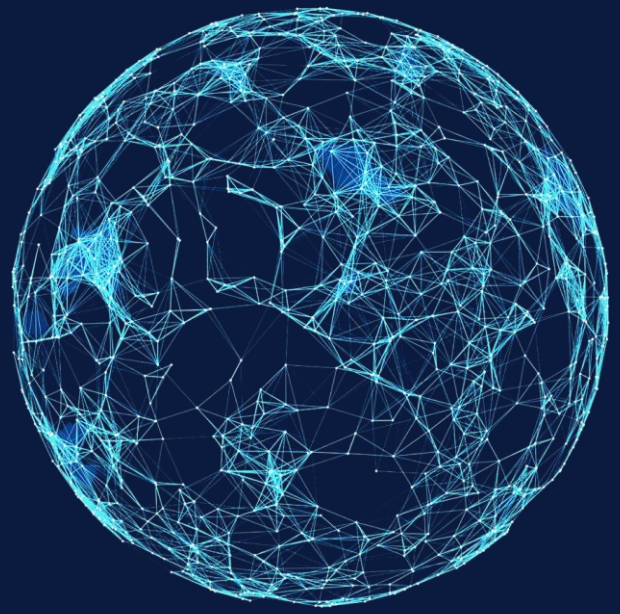

Flexibility

Specific solutions for Operators to maintain their perfect order in their tangle of subsystems.

We don’t want to change the way the Operators has built their networks.

Valid is flexible enough to adapt to any network topology and eSIM Architecture (M2M, Consumer, IoT).

We believe in the network as a live, intelligent and vital entity

Valid

Because all together, we are building a better, more secured, connected and interoperable new world.
